The Artist

With 15 years of experience and counting, Armand Bley has fed his creativity and technique in various fields of graphic design alongside numerous companies like Nike. An influence transpiring in his work for Space Doge.

“ I’m in love with any kind of creative process, really. As an artistic director, I had to be the junction between the will of an artist, the reality of the market, and restrictions imposed by a brand. This time, with Space Doge, we can really set the creativity completely free to bring a complete new vision of Art to the light. We’re working really hard as a team to bring new ways to address the community without falling into cliché. It’s a continuous work of balancing, and it’s absolutely thrilling.”

PHASE 3 : Looking back on Earth

Coming in the first Trimester 2022, we will make a big donation to a charity.

We hold dear in our hearts to give back to the community and to the world. Symbolism matters to us, which is why we want to support a charity in the field of animal care.

The more we show a united front as a community, the more we grow together, the more we will be capable of making these kinds of ambitions come true in the future

PHASE 4 : The Exploration

At this stage of the adventure, we've been traveling for weeks, and it's finally time for us to set course on brand new destinations for us all to explore.

A Play-To-Earn game is currently in its early stages of development, and will be ready for you to enjoy in a while. Your Space Doges will have utility, and you will discover new collections. Holders will have a massive advantage to quickly be able to make profit out of their NFTs.

50%

After months of traveling together, we're more united than ever. All on board DogeRocket headed to the bright, silver Moon.

To celebrate, we want to release an exclusive Merch and Clothing Line for all Explorers to proudly wear and display. NFTs holders will get free products, as we don't charge members of a family. Right ?

Those things take time, and we'll put as much effort as we need into this, but we mean it when we say we want to bring the best to our community.

FAQ

1 What is an NFT ?

NFT stands for Non-Fongible Token, unique digital assets that can be bought, traded and sold. They usually take the form of some type of artwork, or even in-game assets for certain virtual worlds. Each NFT is its own metadata codes, which are stored on the blockchain, to ensure that they remain unique. In that sense, it preserves the rarity of the digital asset at hand.

2 Isn't "mint" a chewing-gum flavor !?

Yes it is, but not only ! In crypto, Mint or Minting refers to the phase when NFTs are published on the blockchain and become available for purchase on Marketplaces (OpenSea, Rarible, Zora). NFTs can only be purchased using Cryptocurrencies (well-known wallets include Coinbase, MetaMask, Rainbow).

3 OpenSea ? I thought the travel was on a Rocket, not a boat...

You're right, we'll be flying, not sailing, but OpenSea doesn't actually refer to the vast ocean in that case. It's an online marketplace where you can buy, sell and store NFTs. You need a wallet holding cryptocurrencies to be linked to OpenSea to start trading.

4 What are Gas Fees ? I thought DogeRocket used Super Refined Kerosene

To be honest, it's the love of our community propelling us forward more than anything, but to answer the question : Gas is the computing power needed to validate a particular transaction on Ethereum. Gas fees are basically transaction costs.

5 Why choose Doge ?

The Doge holds a strong meaning in the crypto community. It started out as a joke, the "People's crypto money", super simple to use and trade, but it became more serious in time as people with a lot of influence started showing interest. A lot of projects pop up everyday featuring Doge or Shiba Inu, and we want to be the One project to make it truly shine.

6 And why Space ?

“To the Moon” ! A well known motto in the crypto community. We really think that those two symbols together can really take the crypto ambition and the NFT sphere to the next level. We created a whole Universe in which Space Doge makes every effort possible to reach the Moon. We want to create a safe community for NFT enthusiasts to invest and get both short term and long term wealth benefits.
